JUVENILE GRANGE NEWS

The Mattapoisett Juvenile Grange will hold its 2nd year supper Sunday night, April 28th, at 5:30 in the Grange dining hall. Proceeds to benefit the State Grange Arthritis Research of the Massachusetts Foundation.

The Massachusetts State Grange has established the Grange Arthritis Research Fellowship at Boston University in the Massachusetts Memorial Hospital. Dr. Francis Comerford, Grange Research Fellow, will conduct the program under the direction of Dr. Alan S. Cohen.

In 1962, with all Granges in Massachusetts participating in the Shares in Better Health program, Mrs. Alice Marshall of New Bedford, State Home and Community Service chairman, presented the Arthritis Chapter a check for $10,171.72.

Twenty-one Juvenile Granges took part in this program with Mattapoisett Juvenile at the top.

The supper Sunday night will have Doris Fearing, Junior Home and Community Service chairman, and Barry Denham, master, assisted by their committee, Edward Alves, Francis Kelley, Susan Silva, Catherine Alves, William Harris and Carolyn Lewis. They will be guided by Mrs. Barbara Heuberger and Mrs. Dorothy Silva. Other members will be appointed before the supper.

students, under adult supervision, hope to canvass every home in the three towns.

The contributions realized from this drive plus other donations from organizations, clubs and civic groups will be given in the form of scholarships to worthy students so that they may attend the college of their choice. Any boy or girl residing in Marion, Mattapoisett or Rochester and in the top half of his or her class may apply. Those students awarded scholarships are asked to assume a moral obligation to repay the money when able to do so that other students may benefit.

It is hoped every adult in the three communities will participate in the Citizens' Scholarship Foundation program of the Old Rochester Chapter by purchasing $1 shares in America's future. And if enthusiasm with the program as expressed so far is any indication, the drive should be highly successful.

To date, more than $1,700 has been contributed to the fund, most of this from organizations in the three towns. Plans are also being made to solicit business firms.

The local chapter president is Norman J. Cartmill of Marion; Horace D. Darrah of Mattapoisett is vice-president; and Mrs. Logan R. Doane of Rochester, secretary.

Mr. Cartmill will speak about the scholarship program at an assembly at the high school Thursday. On Friday, several students from the school will appear on WTEV-TV, Channel 6, at 1:30 P.M. to discuss the fund drive.

Instruction sheets for solicitors have been printed as have leaflets which will be left where students find no one at home.

Chapter officials stress that qualified students of the three towns will be eligible for scholarship grants regardless of the school they attend. It is also pointed out that recipients are morally obligated to repay the grants when they are financially able.

Scholarship applications should be ready for distribution Thursday, it has been reported. They must be submitted by May 15.

ROCHESTER BOWLING LEAGUE, APRIL 16

Tony Lopes' Knotty Pine Cafe came from behind to nip the Woodchoppers in a roll-off for second place in the Rochester Bowling League. Tony's 352 was high for his boys. Lou McKay tried hard to carry the Woodchoppers, with a 388, but got little help from the other members of his team.

Winners for the year were Al Souza, high average, 115.8; Jay Hiller, second high average, 113.4; Don Gifford, high three strings, 411; John Cebula, second high, 408; Bob Jefferson, high single, 176; Ed Leary, second high, 171.

ANNOUNCES LOCAL $500 SCHOLARSHIP

Massachusetts Trades Shops School, Boston, Mass., established in 1936, and one of the oldest and largest vocational schools in New England, has just announced the selection qualified to participate in the newly established Mass. Trades School $500.00 Scholarship. This scholarship has been established as a tribute to its graduates now working for such important firms as General Motors, Pratt & Whitney, RCA-Victor, General Electric and others, and will be awarded annually, starting in 1963, to one outstanding male graduate of Old Rochester Regional High School as determined by members of the local school faculty. This scholarship grant may be used by the appointee toward a program of vocational training at Mass. Trades School, in any of the following day courses, including Machinist, Machine & Tool Designer, Electro-Mechanical Draftsman, Radio-Television Serviceman. Fur-

A LINE FROM THE TAX ROOTS

If you have not been in contact with your legislators recently, this is probably a very good time to let them hear from the home folks. In addition to a friendly hello, I plan to let them know how I feel about the plan to pay $25 to park my car on the street in front of my house. This is the street built with our taxes, maintained with our taxes which include real estate taxes, excise taxes, gasoline taxes and State and Federal income taxes. I don't know how you feel about it but I have some definite ideas on the subject of House Bill 1222. Your State legislators are State Senator Allan Jones, Hyannis Road, Barnstable, Mass. and Representative Edwin H. Morse, 140 Marion Road, Wareham, Mass.

skit suggesting that the chief executive could lose his way in traveling from the shower to the bedroom was funny. To suggest that he has lost his way now would be cruelty because of the uneasy feeling that this would be approaching the truth.

The President now claims that our purpose in Cuba is to contain Communism. He said that Castro will wither away in five years. This is defeat. If Castro fell five minutes from now it would mean nothing for the Communists would replace him instantly. They will control Cuba and spread their political infection into South America for just as long as long as we do nothing. Secretary of State Rusk said recently that the United States will go to the aid of any country threatened by Communism. This is nonsense and the evidence proves it. Senator Keating stated the real truth this week. He said that Castro has demonstrated a great lesson. That is that a man who proclaims himself a Communist can count on help and support from the Soviet Union even though he is 9,000 miles from the border of Russia while those who proclaim themselves democrats can fight and die 90 miles off the coast of the United States and no one will lift a finger to aid them. This week, regarding Laos, our diplomats requested that Khrushchev join the United States in halting the Communist advance by using his influence to stop the fighting. This is satire and the Kremlin must be rocking with laughter. Over here, it hurts too much to laugh.

The President said this week at his news conference that he could not predict what will happen in the future but that the United States will meet the crises as they come. This is what we have always done. When the Communists push, we give; when they act, we react; when they blackmail, we send ransom. No one is very easy while our country drifts without control. Bipartisan foreign policy has no meaning when both parties are united behind a vacuum.

The first law of comedy is that you can kid only that which is good. No one can find much humor in U. S. policy and leadership at the moment.

sett met last Wednesday evening at the Legion Hall on Depot Street.

Minutes of past meetings were not recorded because of little attendance due to inclement weather and illness of some of the members.

Money was collected for the sale of candy butter crisps, proceeds to be used for charities and scholarships. There are several candy containers left and can be purchased from Mrs. Frances Nunes, River Road, or Mrs. Marcellino, Shaw Street.

Several members of the auxiliary planned to attend the 10th District "Get Together" at Bridgewater April 20th. A roast beef dinner, with entertainment and dancing will be provided for the Legionnaires and their friends at this annual celebration.

Plans for a bean supper to be held in April were postponed. A report was made that poppies were received for distributing in remembrance of the forgotten and deceased veterans on Memorial Day.

FROM THE OFFICE OF U. S. SENATOR LEVERETT SALTONSTALL (R., MASS.)

Should New England pay the price of continued restrictions on the import of residual oil, a product so vital to the New England economy, questions Senator Leverett Saltonstall (R., Mass.) in his April 25 report to Massachusetts constituents. "The New England economy has shouldered a $30 million a year burden in increased fuel costs since the Federal Government imposed mandatory restrictions on residual fuel oil imports in 1959. This burden is borne by all New England citizens in one way or another," the Senator said.

"The question of Federal controls on residual oil imports presents a striking example of conflicts arising in government between national, international and regional interests," Saltonstall continued. "However, following a recent study of the residual oil restrictions, the Federal Director of Emergency Planning recommended to the President that "a careful and meaningful relaxation of controls would be consistent with national security and the attainment of hemispheric objectives."

In 1961 Saltonstall and several other New England members of Congress petitioned the Director of Emergency Planning for an investigation of the justification of continuing controls. The Director's report recommended relaxation of quotas and noted that all major government departments commenting on this question, except the Interior Department, advised that continued or tightened restrictions would not be in our national defense interest and would be harmful to our international relations, particularly in Central and South America.

The Bay State Republican noted that New England is just recovering from its severest winter in recent years. "During this period our residual reserves declined, while New England consumers paid about 23¢ a barrel more for unbonded residual oil than consumers just across the Canadian border."

Senator Saltonstall pointed out that imports of foreign manufactured goods, which are in direct competition with New England industrial products, have been permitted to increase, while at the same time imports of residual oil, one of the basic raw materials needed for manu-

"We are asking that the facts on the residual question as presented to the President be carefully evaluated and that the recommendations for easing of restrictions on residual oil be implemented. We believe that it is neither fair nor equitable for New England or other states requiring residual oil to shoulder the burden placed on us by this Federal import control program when the facts cannot substantiate a national security need, as required by law."

"We are not asking for an 'umbrella' over our domestic industries hurt by foreign imports, while seeking free import of residual oil to the detriment of industries in other sections of the country," concluded Sentor Saltonstall.

GASOLINE TAX

Each time a motorist fills his gasoline tank, he pays about $1.50 just in tax, Alfred Farrell, spokesman for the Massachusetts Petroleum Council, told the Fairhaven Lions Club at a recent meeting.

Farrell pointed out that the 5 1/2-cent-a-gallon state gasoline tax, coupled with the four-cent federal levy, now add up to 9 1/2 cents a gallon.

"That's equivalent to a 51 per cent sales tax -- nearly five times higher than the tax levied on luxury items like furs," Farrell added.

"In fact, the taxes you pay on your gasoline account for 15 per cent of all the state revenues collected each year in Massachusetts," he said.

Nevertheless, declared Farrell, the ever-increasing squeeze on motorists shouldn't obscure the fact that gasoline is one of the nation's best bargains and has been for a long time.

"The basic price of gasoline is less today than it was in 1918," he declared. "Only the tax is higher."

He declared that despite the steadily rising costs of doing business and the general inflationary spiral in recent years, the basic price of the petroleum industry's chief product -- gasoline -- has risen far less than the prices of most other consumer products.

According to Farrell, the average service station price, excluding tax, of regular grade gasoline in 1961 was only 1.4 per cent above the 1952 level. By contrast, he continued, average retail prices for all items in the general commodity index were up 13 per cent over the same period.

"The comparison is even more striking when the retail price trend of gasoline is contrasted with specific items which figure importantly in the family budget," said Farrell. "Bread, for example, in that decade was up 32 per cent, milk up 12 per cent, shoes up 24 per cent, and rents up 22 per cent.

"In other words, the record proves our industry can say with justifiable pride that the price of gasoline is one of the biggest bargains in the family budget."
